Kirkburton Parish Council Civic Sunday held in Lepton

The tradition of the Civic Sunday continued last weekend, when Cllr Richard Burton, Chairman of Kirkburton Parish Council, organised the service in Lepton Methodist Church.

The service was conducted Naomi Sharp and Susan Burton.

The event was very well attended by Civic Dignitaries from the neighbouring Town and Parish Councils, past Chairmen, members of Lepton Community Link, present Parish Councillors, previous staff members as well as the Chairman's family and friends. Cllr Burton said, "I'm so pleased that the Day has been so well supported, and would like to thank everyone who contributed to its success."

Note for Editor: Kirkburton Parish Council consists of 11 villages: Farnley Tyas, Flockton, Grange Moor, Highburton, Kirkburton, Kirkheaton, Lascelles Hall, Lepton, Shelley, Shepley, Stocks Moor and Thurstonland. It has been in existence since the local government re-organisation in 1974.

The Civic Sunday Service takes place every year and is normally held at the Chairman's local church. The first one in recent times was held in Kirkburton in 1951.
